BRINGS AN ACTION AGAINST HIS WIFE, WHO IS 72 YEARS OLD.

Seeks a Separation in the Courts-Krag-Reynolds Case Up Again-

Stephen Tucker, eighty-four years old, one yesterday for divorce from Mary Tucker. The latter is seventy-two years of age. They were married in November, 1885, and lived logether until last fall. Mrs. Tucker is the plaintiff's second wife. He has four daughters grown and all are married. Several months ago Mrs. Tucker brought a $10,000 damage suit against her husband's children. She claimed they had alienated the affections of Stephen Tucker and had taken him away from her. This suit is still pending in the Superior Court. Until the separation last fall Stephen Tucker had resided for sixty-four years on the farm which he owns. The Tucker family is one of prominence in Franklin township. In his complaint for divorce Mr. Tucker charges that his aged wife was cross to him and that he could not live peaceably with her. He says she conceived a violent dislike for his daughters and would not allow them to come to the farm to visit

After Mrs. Tucker had brought a damage suit against her husband's children she filed another suit to enjoin them from removing grain from their father's farm. This suit was tried in the Superior Court and old Mr. Tucker was there as a witness. At that time he said his wife, about four years ago, 'took the reins of government' in her own hands. He declared that in the last four years he had only had about $4 in money that he kept for any length of time. The old gentleman said he once had $15 in cash, but he was not allowed to keep it. His wife, after making vain attempts to get possession of the money, finally resorted to a very crafty scheme. He said that one day she called out to him: "Old man, I am going to do the washing and I want you to change shirts." Mr. Tucker related that he did as his wife bid him and that while in the act of removing the shirt and at a his wife succeeded in relieving him of his fifteen dollars.

WAS NO FRAUD.

Attorneys in Krag-Reynolds Litigation Again in Court. The attorneys interested in the Krag-Reynolds litigation gathered in Room 3, Superior Court, again yesterday afternoon. The lawyers met to discuss the special findings made by the court in his recent decision in the suit of Trustee Reagan to set aside the Krag-Reynolds mortgages. During the proceedings Attorney W. H. H. Miller requested the court to find that the Krag-Reynolds Company was guilty of fraud when it placed A. B. Gates and Nicholas McCarty Harrison in the first mortgage. Mr. Miller also thought it should be found that Lafavette Perkins, trustee under the mortgage, had full knowledge of this fraud. Judge Carter declined to make the finding. Phere was considerable cross-firing between the attorneys and once Miller turned to Nathan Morris with the remark: Well, you are a bumptious sort of fou seem to run things around here. That is because I am a pupil of yours,

Mr. Miller," replied Attorney Morris. Petitions in Bankruptcy.

Three bankruptcy petitions were yesterday filed, one of which was involuntary. Edward M. Thompson, a laboring man, of this city, living at No. 1218 Spann avenue, filed a petition showing his liabilities to $1,385.67 and claiming $20 exemption.

Burdette F. McNear, of Columbia City, shows liabilities of $1.741.18 and $90 exemption. Accompanying his petition is a statement that he invested all his money which was received from his mother's estate in the hardware business with his father and that the business was conducted under the firm name of J. F. McNear & Son. He states that he relied on his father's prudence and sagacity, but that the firm failed and he lost his money. His uncle, the statement reads, is willing to start him again in busiless, but will not do so different all F. McNear & Son are wiped out. but will not do so until the debts of A petition for involuntary bankruptcy was filed against R. S. Hood & Co., of Knightstown, by J. C. Perry & Co. and John L. Moore, of this city, and A. O. Morris, of Knightstown, Their claims aggregate $502.34. Their petition states that last January the firm of R. S. Hood & Co. transferred the stock of Sarah M. Ulen, of Lebanon, with the intent to delay and hinder creditors.

The Trial of Blume. Only one witness in the Blume murder trial, at Lebanon, was examined yesterday morning. Earl Jackson was put on the graph which was handed him as a good likeness of Grace Harvey. Following his testimony several letters, written by Blume ters written to Grace Harvey by Oscar Jennings, of Martinsville, who was to have been married to the girl, were read, as was also a letter writen by Grace Harvey to Jennings.

The argument of attorneys then began. John Shelby opened for the State. He was ollowed for the defense by S. M. Ralston. Sherman Mott followed Mr. Ralston for the defense. Attorney Frank Groninger will speak for the State to-day. Ex-Judge Mc-Cray will then speak for the defense and A. J. Shelby will close for the State. Each side is liimted to four and one-half hours. The arguments will likely be concluded by to-

A Guardian Removed.

Probate Commissioner Walker has removed William Tolin as guardian of Bessie Etchison, eighteen years old. Some time ago Mr. Tolin made a report to the commissioner which was not entirely satisfactory. On the same day one of Tolin's bondsmen came in and asked that he be relieved. This made it necessary to require a new bond, which Tolin failed to furnish. He was removed yesterday and Orrison B. Hayes was appointed in his place.

Claim of an Assignee. In the Circuit Court yesterday John Robson filed a claim for services as assignee of the Matthews 5 and 10-cent store. He is asking for an allowance of $37.50 a week and in support of his claim, says that while he was connected with the New York store he received $50 a week. Judge Allen has the claim under consideration.

MR. ARMSTRONG'S TALK.

Contemporary Club Listens to an Interesting Address.

The March meeting of the Contemporary Club was held last evening and Mr. William Armstrong delivered an address, this being the third season he has appeared before the club. His subject was "The Artistic Temperament, Psychologically Treated." It was the first time Mr. Armstrong has given the lecture, and the subject is one which has not heretofore been considered by writer or speaker. Mr. Armstrong was long connected with the press as music critic, and the studies for his paper were made from life after close association with some of the greatest living artists and under conditions which allowed of unusual opportunity. Mr. Armstrong gave his address in an earnest and interesting way and illustrated it with numerous incidents, naming the different artists from whom he gathered his material. One of the most interesting sections was the one relating to the vanity of artists. He spoke of the vanity of the true artist, which s a necessity, with certain limits; the van ity of the artist without tact; the vanity of the phlegmatic artist, which is so obnoxious; the vanity of the veteran, who has grown old imperceptibly and who refuses to leave the stage; of the time which comes sooner or later when he is made to know that his power has left him, and then the passing years when he believes that the past was the time in which to live and that the art of to-day is not so great as that of the time when he sang. There was a pathetic touch in the picture which the speaker drew. Another section was devoted to feeling-real and assumed-and of impetuosity, which is so nearly related to inspiration, a feeling which develops things in an operation role of which the artist never dreamed. Another section was jealousy, which even the most distinguished and high in position have for others who are successful. Art makes his world and bounds his horizon. Other topics were grasping, nervous sensiility, adaptability, the influence of operation roles on artists of intelligence and the influence of audiences. One incident related was of a concert in Chicago, when Burmeister, whom Mr. Armstrong believes to be the greatest living violinist, was playing a Spohr concerto. The artist feels his audience and often selects some one in it who is sympathetic and plays to that one. This time the violinist saw a pair of opera glasses leveled at him, suddenly the glasses were dropped and the holder smothered a yawn with her hand. From that instant the violinist played the notes, but he had no more feeling to put into his music. Another instance was of Marie Engel singing and in the midst of the audience was man who giggled and laughed. She could not imagine what was the matter and on going to the dressing room found the one who sang before her in tears because a man in the audience had laughed all the time she was singing. It was afterward learned that the man was a half-witted fellow who loved music and that was his manner of expressing his delight. After the lecture there was a general discussion. The reception committee for the evening was Rev. and Mrs. Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Baker and Miss Julia Harrison Moore, Mr. Armstrong was presented to the members of the club, Mr. Armstrong was the guest of honor at Mrs. Sewall's afternoon at home and at dinner last evening. He returned to Chicago last night.

LITTLE DEPOT ACCIDENT. Narrow Escape of Passengers on North Indianapolis Car. An accident at the "Little Depot" crossing on Massachusetts avenue last evening fortunately resulted in no injuries or fatalities. About 9:30 o'clock a North Indianapolis and East Tenth-street car, in charge of Conductor Scott and Motorman Stevens. Monon while crossing the tracks. There through timely warning all succeeded in getting out of the car before it was struck. From all that could be learned the accident was the result of a misunderstanding of signals. Conductor Scott says that when they came to the tracks he got out to see that the line was clear. A string of cars which were being switched were "cut" to clear the crossing, and when he came up the brakeman gave him a signal to come ahead. He then signaled the motorman, who brought the street car up to the railway, when it attorney and by him filed with the judge kinds; mechanical ideas completed. All wak to Grace Harvey while he was at Hot up. The cars came back so slowly that the street car was not damaged, being simply shoved from the rails and turned half around. In explaining his action in backing up the engineer stated he understood the signal given to the street-car conductor as a "back-up" signal for himself.

Injuries May Prove Fatal. Chris Reiseif, a well driller, living at 1509 South State street, while crossing the street-Jersey street vesterday afternoon, was struck by a car and perhaps fatally injured. His wounds were a large gash in the forehead, several cuts about the face and a number of scalp wounds and a broken rib. He was suffering much and was taken to the City Hospital by Dr. Fouts. Early this morning the hospital physicians said his recovery was doubtful.

Indiana Men Are Desired.

Major H. O. S. Heistand, of the adjutant general's office. Washington, who is inspecting the recruiting stations throughout the country, was in the city yesterday. He will recommend that the work of this station be increased by establishing several branch offices throughout the State, as Indiana men are desired in the army. The enlistments of Edwin Robison and Roscoe King, of Mooresville, was postponed because of their arrest by Marshal Lowe, of that place, for the alleged theft of cloverseed. They persuaded the official of their innocence and were released. The enlistments yesterday were Walter C. Kircley, of Tipton; Burn Hodson, of Carlos; Edward McGaughney, of Newport; Patrick Sullivan, William S. E. Jamieson, Burt H. Schwine and Charles W. Dearth, of this

Suit Against Wayne Township.

The Jeffrey-Fuller Company, brokers at the stock yards, has refiled its suit for damages against Wayne township. The com- 9 p. m. pany had some sheep on pasture in that township and dogs attacked the flock, killing several head and injuring many others. The plaintiff is asking damages in the sum of $500. This suit was originally brought in Room 2, Superior Court, and went to trial. About the time the attorneys were ready for argument the case was dismissed. The present suit is brought in Room 3.

Two Women Arrested. An elderly woman giving the name of Kittle Gray, aged fifty-four, living at 330 East North street, and a young colored woman, Lynette Bush, 859 Rhode Island street, had some difficulty yesterday which resulted in both being sent to the police station by Sergeant Lowe on a charge of assault and battery. The woman, Kittle man; support. Argument concluded and Gray, was somewhat bruised and scratched about the face, while the colored woman showed no marks whatever.

Miss Doty Robbed. Upon complaint of Miss Belle Doty, working at 220 East Wabash street, Charles plaintiff and judgment against plaintiff for Rumsey, colored, was arrested yesterday by Detectives Dugan and Stout and charged with highway robbery. THE PESTHOUSE VACANT

NOT A CASE OF SMALLPOX NOW IN IN-DIANAPOLIS.

About $100,000 to Be Spent on Parks This Year-No More Tomlinson Hall Fights.

The pesthouse was empty yesterday for the first time in several weeks and this morning there is not a case of smallpox in the city nor a person in quarantine. The last of the smallpox patients-the two tramps sent out by the Dispensary officers -were turned loose yesterday morning, free from the disease, with a complete new out-Abraham Soperstein vs. Terre Haute fit of clothes and cleaner than they had been in years. > THE PARK IMPROVEMENTS. Artificial Lakes to Be Supplied from and fumigated.

Judging from the amount of funds in the hands of the Park Board, nearly $100,000 wil be spent this year in improving White River Park, Most of the work will be the "foundation" order and, it is said, will not probably be appreciated by the uninitiated who do not study the matter deeply. "Inasmuch as one improvement always suggests another," said Superintendent to tell just what improvements will be made in any of the parks or what they will cost.' Contrary to the general expectation, Su erintendent Power states that the spring freshets in White river will not in any way endanger the park, as all the driveways have been laid out several feet higher than the water line has ever reached, and it is not considered likely that it will be necessary to build a "sea wall" to protect the park lands from floods. In arranging for the artificial lakes in the park, the conclusion has been reached that it will be impracticable to utilize the river in supplying the water for the reason that not only is the river much below the level of the proposed lakes, but by using it the depth of the water in the lakes would vary amount of water in the river, and the arrangement would therefore be unsatisfactory. It has been decided, however, that the lakes can be satisfactorily supplied from the canal and the connection will undoubtedly be made as soon as the excavations have been finished. Most of the work in White River Park this year will be in the way of planting such trees and shrubs as An have attained a substantial growth by the time the heavy work is finished. Some work will be done in all the parks this summer, but just what it will be has not been decided upon.

NO MORE FIGHTS THERE.

Tomlinson Hall to Be Closed to the Boxers. City Controller Johnson announced yesterday that hereafter he will not allow any the auspices of the Indiana Athletic Asso- | trusts and monopolies in the various States, ciation, but, on the representations of the prime movers in the affair that the exhibi- itself. tion was simply to be one of club swinging. wrestling and light boxing, and that the promoters had been to great expense in arranging the affair, he allowed it to be held. The flat has gone forth, however, to the effect that all fighters must hereafter apply elsewhere. It is related of "Bill" Fiynn that when he heard of the new order he thought it referred to the recent street-car mass meeting and thereupon remarked facetiously: "And he says he won't stand for any more scraps like we had the other night. Well, sure it was a good one anyway even if we never have another.'

The Dances Rehearsed. The "Bohemian dance" and the "Lovers" quarrel gavotte," to be given in the Terpsicorean carnival of the Flower Mission early n April, were rehearsed at Tomlinson Hall last night. The former dance is led by Mrs. Arthur C. White and the latter by Miss Helen Davidson, both of whom show an unusual aptitude and grace in the parts assigned them. Prof. Agostini kept the dancers till quite late, and much was accomplished. As the rehearsals of these dances are held, t becomes quite difficult to determine which s the prettier dance, they are all so charming. The exact date of the carnival has yet been determined, but it will be either the first or second week in April. The schedule of dances for the rest of the week

ANTI-TRUST LAW SAID TO APPLY ONLY IN CERTAIN CASES.

Unofficial Opinion by Attorney General Griggs Which Is of Great Interest.

A special dispatch, last evening, conveyed the information that Attorney General the late "fistic carnival" took place under Nation cannot suppress, control or nullify

The views aroused much interest here, particularly as such an opinion might affect Indiana. On this point Governor Mount, last evening, said: "This opinion is according to the general impression of the provisions of the Sherman act and the application of those provisions. It is a well-established rule that each State legislates for that which is entirely within its borders and that the general government legislates for that which affects the different States. From the brief synopsis it is difficult to give an intelligent opinion. It all depends on the scope of the words 'interstate relations.' If the attorney general holds that the federal government cannot legislate against trusts that extend from State to State, as the Standard Oil Company, for example, it is a great victory for the trusts. If the holding is that the government can regulate such trusts and that the States can take action against them or suppress them within the borders of the State, it is good law. The interstatecommerce legislation by the general government still leaves to the State the right to legislate regarding commerce within the State only. Indiana is practically without an anti-trust law, as the one on the statutes is not effective, and the attorney general tells me that it is not stringent enough. It would be almost impossible to take any action under it, I am told.' Attorney General Taylor said: "I do not care to express an opinion now. Trusts have been uniformly held to be contrary to public policy and a State has the right to legislate on anything which is contrary to public policy. As to just how effective the antitrust law which we now have is, I am not prepared to say. As soon as I get the accumulated business off my hands, which resulted from the session of the Legislature, I am going to take up the question of trusts and see what can be done under that law. I cannot say just now what the effect of a ruling of this kind would be. Chapel Exercises at Butler.

The last chapel exercises of the winter term at Butler College were held yesterday morning. Prof. A. R. Benton presided and presented Prof. Griggs, of Leland Stanford University, who spoke on "The Problem of Civilization." He regarded the problem as an educational one and not a political one. He believed that the masses of people must be educated so as to solve the great problems, and those with which Americans are confronted are the greatest with which any people has been compelled to cope, and if the masses cannot be educated to solve these questions, they must be so educated as to select those who can solve them.

Arming the National Guard.

Adjutant General Gore is busy preparing the equipment for the recently mustered in | $1,600. organizations of the National Guard. The State has nothing at all in equipment, and everything furnished will be new. The infantry will be given Springfield rifles, as it is impossible to secure the Krag-Jorgensen at the present time for National Guard organizations.

Cause of E. H. Hardy's Death. The body of E. H. Hardy, who was found dead in bed at the Grand Opera House Hotel on Tuesday night, was sent by Undertaker Kregelo to his former home, Louisville, Ky., last evening. The post mortem

Charles Dellert, aged about seventy-five. died about 7 o'clock yesterday morning at Reed's Mission, 223 West Maryland street. Coroner Nash decided that death was due to old age and exhaustion, and that there was no foundation for the report of starvation made yesterday.

Governor Goes to the Farm. Governor Mount will leave for his Montgomery county home this morning and will spend the rest of the week on the farm. High Buildings.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: Having occasion to visit your city quotations regarding the proposed law in era of high buildings means much to our future architecture. Your editorial was written by a broad-minded man and I am high steel structures, but I must say that where the crowning features of a city are likely to be obliterated it is time to call a halt by limit of law as to territory in which said buildings can be erected. From my standpoint as an architect 125 feet is as high as any building should be erected for economy, safety and a fair return on money invested. I do not know whether the monument and Statehouse stand on high-ground or not, but it is wise to have a law, under any view of the case, limiting the height of buildings to be erected within a fixed radius to a height not greater than the cornice of the Statehouse. My opinion may not have any value, but I am impelled to this communication by reason of an interest in your city, having previously visited this place some eighteen years ago, when all the streets were mud. I find at this time a great change in this city, and it is commendable. Streets and walks are now fit for travel and every part looks clean, which cannot be said of the great city of Chicago The ladies must appreciate the benefits of these improvements as well as the traveling public and bicyclists.
